

Martin Nyongesa Napisa.

Napisa is a final year Master of Business Administration student at the University of Nairobi. He graduated from the same University with a Bachelor of Arts in Economics and Geography. He is the National Coordinator of National Taxpayers Association (NTA) which is reputed for building sustained citizen/CSO demand for accountability from government service providers and devolved fund managers. He has been working for NTA for the last five years.

Before joining NTA, he worked for several organizations including the Kenya National Bureau of Statistics formerly Central Bureau of Statistics and took part in a number of research work among them the New Partnership for African Development's (NEPAD) African Peer Review Mechanism.

Napisa is a leading Citizens Report Card (CRCs) expert, he used widely the CRCs as tools to hold the managers of devolved funds accountable in Kenya. NTA is known for improving the management of devolved funds in Kenya.

Napisa is credited for his 2013 innovation of using GIS to provide reliable and timely information for decision support, sound planning and management, and overall good governance of county governments. An innovation that has generated a lot of interest from stakeholders.

When he isn't on his computer working, he spends time watching football or listening to his favourite rhumba music.
